Fire Truck Advertising, Marketing with a Cause

Firefighters are heroes! They place their lives on the line to save us, our families and our businesses. Funding has been drastically reduced creating a loss of much needed safety programs, as well as recruitment and training programs for future firefighters. Some of our communities have lost valuable services and resources:

Fire trucks are regular parts of the community. They are always moving through local and surrounding cities while engaging the citizens, teaching classes, participating in parades and other local events.

When on an emergency call they can travel great distances and provide for huge advertising opportunities as they assist neighboring cities and states.

Because of their job function, fire trucks are regularly on T.V., driving streets, roadside, and in the newspapers.
